

CHRONICLE N°13

The voices of primitive wisdom and their teachings for the new world & The extraordinary powers of cometary viruses and menstrual stem cells

Things are always well done, because we know that the human soul would never propose to its bodily and individual extension, experiences that it would not be able to overcome.

Then, wouldn't it be the same on another level for the group soul of humanity ?

Shouldn't it ask itself the question to understand what would be the « collective challenge » that she/it should manage to overcome at this very moment ?

Considering that on its contemporary timeline, this collective soul has the resonance of its people, in other words, its current level of consciousness, would it not be enough simply to observe what is happening in our modern world to find the explanation for this challenge ?

The answer is crystal clear, but it is simple for too few people yet.

This huge viral and worldwide Coronacircus, with all these baseless « health restrictions » and these ridiculous muzzle-masks, constitutes an ultimate last stand of the 4th density corpus towards our civilisation of spiritual backwards ! Because by this last commemoration of farewell to humanity of 3rd density, the STS corpus warns us of the moment near the great transition. We've talked about this a lot !

This famous moment, is that of the famous harvest of souls by which the entities of the Service To the Self « help themselves » first !

Arnaud Amaury, a deep-state agent who persecuted the Cathars, had he not already announced this at his time ?

« Kill them all ! For the Lord knows those who are His.»
Address attributed to Arnaud Amaury, papal legate of Pope Innocent III at the siege of Bézier in 1209.

Let's then think : even if, supposedly, it would constitute an infringement of the fundamental rights of the human, would this huge world masquerade be truly to consider as the greatest crime against humans that the planet has ever lived ? Or wouldn't it only be a fair return of things that would announce its next transfiguration ?

In the same way that the soul warns the individual of a disturbance in the energetic and psychic functioning by illness to make him change his behavior, Has not the human been repeatedly warned to revise his attitudes towards Earth and nurturing nature ?

As some alternative, supposedly conspiracy-based media would still suggest, a worldwide movement of lawyers and jurists would be holding up lawsuits against government puppets !

Is it only common puppets who are guilty of the downfall of humanity ? Isn't there another culprit in this sad setting ?

Let's take this staging from a « quantum » point of view ! Would a puppet theatre have a reason to be if there were no spectators/observers to validate the story they are led to believe ?

Quantum physics shows that the observer's consciousness is creative of what it observes. But by remaining focused on what he is led to believe, the observer, hypnotized by the puppets on the stage and unaware of the underlying mechanism, forgets to verify reality. As a result, he becomes somewhere, the unconscious manager, condoning the comedy he accepts to watch !

Thus, the modern human, deluded observer but passionate about the unfolding of this world theatre play – especially if he remains confined because of a viral chimera supposedly mutant –, focuses invariably his consciousness on fantasies invented on lies, on unreal, raising emotional waves overly altered by these powerful hypnosis technologies, resulting from simulated and artificial images. Created by the STS corpus and launched on a large scale, these processes are now led by Artificial Intelligence (Iphone, Ipod and other « ouch ouch ouch<sup>1</sup>... »).

Consequently, modern human has judiciously been programmed to invariably seek out an outer person responsible for his misfortune. He has cleverly been conditioned to make « others » guilty of his difficulties and persists in doing so ! And hypnotized by illusion, he almost forgot how to recognize the “reality of his world” outside this artificial environment !

Then, shouldn't we ask ourselves the real question : this so-called Covidian genocide planned against the peoples by governments affiliated to the STS corpus, is it really to be considered as a deliberate crime against humans ?

Would it not be rather a sort of collective suicide of contemporary technological humanity, which is caused by its refusal to take responsibility for the horrors it generates in its world ? Would its self-destruction not be the karma of which it is itself “retro-causally” responsible for ?

All these lawyers, doctors, scientists and so-called humanity benefactors, but also dependent on the matrix system, have always and systematically sought remedies or solutions to mens' difficulties in this same “external world” of Cartesian laws, technologies and material sciences.

But why have they always ignored, even refused, to seek them within their being, in their genetics, their cells, their own behavior or in the memories of human karma to which they are intimately attached ?

Have they still not understood that thanks to all these restrictions in hospitals and deficiencies in healthcare services, the servants of the STS gods, in charge of the great cleansing of the planet, have simply provided them with the tools for the final genocide ?

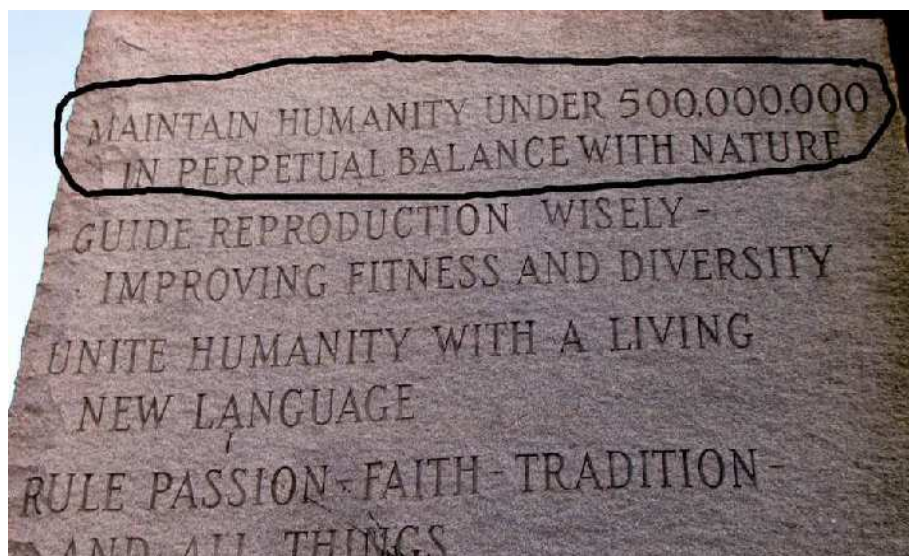

This because all these “brave foolish people” ignore that the leaders of the deep State who are in close relation with the STS corpus of 4th density, play a decisive role in the transition process of humanity in these higher frequencies of reality !

Thus, why are vaccines studied and elaborated with nanoparticles or RNA without any precaution as to their safety, if not to make as many victims as possible among “the weak-minded, the lazy and the ignorant” and stop them from changing world ? Would this attack on these bodies of 3rd density tired by their quest for power and wealth to the detriment of life, not be from a karmic plan, absolutely legitimate and ingenious ?

Obviously, all these vaccine technologies will make lots of victims among ignorants and materialistic weak-minded !, since the agents of the global deep State have a quota to respect, which is clearly indicated on the Georgia Guidestones.

But the ordinary human still does not prefer to be interested in the truth that rises gently on the planet ! The “Satanist” deep State would like to eliminate all these Christians, Muslims, Jews craving for wealth and power and these Hindus, Buddhists exalted by their pious wishes, from the surface of the Earth, and they will succeed !

Nevertheless, escape this macabre fate, all true humans really “rich in their true Faith”. For they will be “transfigured” and will continue their cycle of evolution in 4th density.

Those who will survive and remain in 3rd density will be those survivors, weak-minded, deprived of Knowledge, still endowed with their Adamic animal consciousness, who will impulse a new cycle of 3rd density and teach the new souls, coming from the 2nd density. For they too will have to make their transition into higher worlds.

Thus the soul group of humanity will gradually withdraw from its cycle of incarnation of 3rd density to find itself in 4th density of reality. And this will be “naturally and cosmically” justified.

This being so, we know that even if souls have no consciousness of their own, they will be reborn with new memory data and will invest the next humanity. Some of them, therefore, have already been taught to be ready to experience their new faculties, in a cycle of life beginning at last in a new density.

Question to the Angel :

As we began to approach the subject in the previous chronicle, we discovered that there was an analogy between the imagination coming from our thoughts, and the light emanating from gravitation ! Then, what about the active, imaginative and creative visualisation that is supposed to lead us to change reality ?

Your thoughts, like the light, are born of gravity. But contrary to popular belief, your thoughts don't really come from your brain. Since this extraordinary organ is only a fabulous transmitter of information/light frequencies that are converted there into mind-forms.

These information/light frequencies emitted from the 7th density, cross all worlds and dimensions. They then illuminate and reveal everything you see. And when you see "matter illuminated" by light in the material world, in reality you do not see light, but you do perceive photons which are the smallest indivisible measure, whether of the amount of energy in motion, or of its mass.

It is therefore thanks to this light, especially thanks to the photons of the visible electromagnetic spectrum, that matter emits and that you also emit, that you see the reality of your environment and the people around you.

Colors, the only visible spectrum to the human eye

So even in complete darkness, these photons are present. But as they vibrate at ultraviolet, infrared or other frequencies, imperceptible to the human eye, you can no longer perceive your environment.

So when you think you see light, you just perceive an electromagnetic wave in some of its forms of variation. These variations are more or less large eddies of the spectral magnetic field that composes the colors.

Light is therefore a magnetic field formed of both waves and particles that begin their trajectory in the omnipresence of the 7th density frequencies around you and that come towards you. It behaves like a wave when you do not see it (for example in a darkroom), and like particles when you see your environment (like in broad daylight).

These particles are those photons that illuminate your 3rd density and that are intercepted by your eyes, specially designed to intercept only the “stirring frequency” of 3rd density photons ; these frequencies then correspond specifically to what you believe to be “your whole reality”.

However, animals or insects that intercept the same light as humans, often do not perceive the same information as you. Their reality then differs from yours, due to their optical nervous system primarily designed to intercept color spectra beyond infrared or ultraviolet, or to distinguish waves of form that are often unassimilable or divergent from what the human mind perceives.

Photons also illuminate all other densities, but they do not always generate the same vibratory frequencies of light as in your world. Which means that even if we stood next to you, you wouldn't be able to see us !

This because human eyes and its “nervous system” (nor even its technology) are not designed to intercept the vibratory frequencies of photons emitted by our less material bodies. This also means that the individuals who can perceive us, have already developed non-human codons, able to intercept the form waves of our bodies. They then appear to their gaze in a way similar to human silhouettes more or less visible and elongated, as you might see on a negative photo.

Human silhouettes more or less visible and elongated,

Let's talk then about the active and creative imagination or intelligent visualization which, similarly, are thought forms carrying photonic information/light, but which vibrate at different frequencies. They as well remain invisible, not only to the human observer, but even more specifically, they remain invisible to his consciousness. In rare cases, some individuals who possess the gift of reading the thoughts of others, might perceive the effects of the intelligent visualization of others, by their capacity for clairvoyance.

As you now know, this information/light originates in 7<sup>e</sup> density. But although they are electromagnetic waves carrying information deflected by the activity and strength of your consciousness, they naturally have the same properties as photons. The active imagination therefore also uses these elementary particles of light that are conveyed and then energized by the effort of conscious and sustained visualization. Photonic activity is simply reoriented through human thought and can even be exponentially enhanced under certain conditions.

The photon thus remains both as a wave and as a particle that carries the energy/information of light. Yet it remains the intermediary element between electromagnetism and gravity. These intermediate elements then transmit the interaction of these electromagnetic waves which is that light coming from the union with the One, that is, the 7th density.

The photonic energy or light has nothing to do with divine light, often considered as a spiritual entity, however it is simply the energetic expression of gravity. This "photonic/light" energy is thus present wherever there is gravity and remains omnipresent, even in complete darkness.

And since this gravity never moves, photons are simultaneously scattered in space and time, in all the matter and antimatter worlds. Because gravity is the ubiquitous tissue that allows the basic energy movement at all density levels and in all dimensions.

The gravitational tissue remains the driver of all forms of magnetic and electromagnetic energy. It thus constitutes a kind of lattice, a support for every form of existence. While gravity waves have the function of generating folds in this matrix tissue to pave the way for a higher understanding and consciousness, they will allow the individual, when the time comes, to transit from the old world to the other.

Also, in order to be able to move from your present reality to the next world, your job is to change the energetic resonance profile of your level of consciousness. This, thanks to your work of group exchange, will allow you to acquire previously unsuspected knowledge, to apply and experience them "in your new bubbles of reality".

This means that acquiring Knowledge, is receiving "more energy" through information. And when you apply this knowledge, it produces even more energy. You can then understand that at the most information/light from your thoughts (thus energy) is added to a system of ideas, a project, a creation, the more it will gain mass and densify in its new reality.

It is this stage which corresponds to the pre-densification of matter in the proto-physical world of this other reality. Then, only, this information is reflected/densified in this proto-reality by the fact that you put all the energy into it by the force of your consciousness (or by attention and by your thoughts), which ultimately increases their mass.

This phenomenon will generate and later add more “photons” to your projects which, thanks to the laws of gravitation, will be realized in an environmental system parallel to your still factual reality. You are therefore already “pre-plasmatising” your new world and your new bodies, since you give them more and more density and consistency.

It is in this way that can be explained your preparation for the density change which will naturally and only be given to those who advance their thoughts and their consciousness by nourishing themselves with Knowledge.

Question to the Angel :

Not too long ago, in a vision, I had met those we called True Men, probably Aborigines. They had suggested to me that they were healing various diseases and illnesses with female menstruation and that the time had come for us too, to be able to regain that kind of ability and benefit from their knowledge.

Can their knowledge be revealed to this future humanity ?

We are going to enter here on the level of revelations that will certainly serve the next humanity ! Indeed, Aborigines knew the benefits of women’s menstrual flow associated with the energy/light of photons. Their so-called primitive wisdom knew that menstruation contained regenerative stem cells and that these latter possessed holographic properties that, when applied to the skin, passed through the tissues.

Because the skin has the particularity of completely absorbing all the electromagnetic radiation incident on its surface. And according to the principle of vibratory resonance, there are constantly exchanges of frequencies between the different layers of cellular tissues that compose it and its environment.

In other words, the skin has the ability to transfer visible and invisible beneficial radiation through its cellular tissues and block those that are harmful to the body. And it is because its cells are polarized just like the plate of a polaroid, that the skin is able to stop most harmful electromagnetic waves. Thus, only gravitational waves pass through it to spontaneously restore the electromagnetic field after their passage.

So you can understand the value of using gravitational light from intention and then the force of visualization. Because reoriented by the power of your imaginative consciousness, its photonic signal which are gravitational waves, crosses each stem cell and like a myriad of holograms, will print their geometry in the blood circulation !

And given the fractal dimension of the electromagnetic connections between the informational field and the human body, this prepotency of the holographic power of stem cells induced by visualization, can be related to the effects of homeopathic dilutions by which they gain power and efficiency, when by this “visualization”, the energy of the signal increases by its multiplication.

Thus, in the same way as when homeopathic dilution increases, the signal, when it is “fractalized”, becomes more effective. This, since you replicate on a different scale, the same geometric signature contained “indefinitely” and infinitesimally in the fractals of the signal.

In other words, it is the connection to this or that part of the information field that increases its power. And it is this connectedness that basically then becomes an informative signature that you replicate and amplify indefinitely on a different scale.

Finally, you only saturate the signal of information with the informative signature of your imaginative consciousness. This has the consequence that the effects of the fractalization of the signal become less material and its field of information more pure or beneficial, and especially easier to assimilate for the human body.

It is in this way that combined with the cellular waters of the body and the informative energy of light, the stem cells from the menstruation, containing amazing regenerating properties, were considered a gift of the Great Spirit of the woman.

So before we go any further into the explanations, you must first understand that the aborigines considered themselves as True Men, that is to say that they knew that their original genome had been preserved throughout the history of humanity. They were the genetically closest human species to the Neanderthal Homo.

True Men were therefore not stupidly materialistic and technological as are modern Homo sapiens sapiens. For Aboriginal culture, humanity today, profoundly dependent on its technology, was made up of degenerate mutants who, in every sense of the word, no longer knew how to think and had lost all connection with mother nature.

Seriously, were they not right ?

The modern man is so obsessed with his technology and the so-called scientific advances, that he has completely forgotten that he knew how to relieve his ills, without apparatus other than his hands !

Aborigines, for example, knew how to cure all types of fractures, diseases, even cancer, without resorting to a single electric wire. They did not need a CT scan or MRI or radio equipment to detect the cause or symptoms.

They simply used their natural ability to perceive and feel the energy, and to distinguish the breaks in the resonance field of the individual. Their only technology was their deep nature and total acceptance of their human condition. And as they were aware that each individual possessed within him all that he is and all that he needs, they were almost never sick. Their “holy spirit” lived in a healthy body !

It is only when the English settlers arrived with their avant-garde ideas, but mentally degenerated, that the aborigines lost their sovereignty and their know-how. The unethical colonization of Australia by white man finalized the extinction of their original genome. The last authentic Aborigines of Australia, this minority oppressed since the Europeans' arrival two centuries ago, have indeed left your 3rd density plan in 1910.

https://www.francetvinfo.fr/monde/asie/les-aborigenes-d-australie-une-minorite-marginalisee\_3072763.html

It is about the same for this other oppressed minority that are the African pygmies. Their original genome died out of the 3rd density, in the 1960s.

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=JEPKN\_eFU6s

In any case, these “first peoples” knew for a very long time what the science of modern man has only just discovered : menstruations contain stem cells, capable of multiplying, differentiating into nine different types (heart, lung, liver, bone, etc.) or specializing in all other functions of the body.

Multiplying much faster than other stem cells, they divide every 20 hours with a growth factor 100,000 times higher than stem cells from the umbilical cord.

Thus, 5 ml of menstrual blood provide in two weeks, enough cells to obtain pulsatile cardiomyocytes (cardiac muscle cells with pulsations). These new endometrial stem cells are therefore extremely regenerative and do not entail any risk of rejection.

<https://lepharmablog.blogspot.com/2011/05/sang-menstruel-une-decouverte.html>

“Advanced quantum medicine” has already admitted the usefulness of these stem cells, when they are transplanted or transfused on site. Like Laura Knight, lots of people have already benefited from this new medical technology. But knowing that cometary viruses also play their part in the process, Laura could certainly have saved herself her long journey and her costly hospitalization, if she had known what is now revealed to you.

<https://www.meilleureclinique.fr/blog/prix-traitement-cellules-souches-turquie>

By colonizing or “infecting” your body, the famous cometary viruses “of the end of the times”, carrying the specific codons of RNA opening messenger, have simply restored certain missing parts of your original genome and contributed to its progressive repair.

By doing so, this genetic repair could free you from thought-forms induced by the STS predatory matrix. But let’s not go into details, the mechanism would be too long to explain here !

This means, however, that those who were fighting SARS and Covid-19/21 by all possible means to avoid viral contamination, also and certainly prevented the restoration of their genome !

Because by their ignorance of Knowledge and their unawareness of the universal laws, these stupid people were led to fight against these viruses, in such a way that they have henceforth forbidden themselves the opportunity to change density.

Thus, the pretext for which the SARS and Covid viruses were manufactured, was a subterfuge to put in place the means to stop the spontaneous, beneficial and natural RNA replication proposed by these famous cometary viruses.

The pretext of vaccination was to allow the STS corpus to artificially insert stop RNA codons into the genome of the injection volunteers. This in order to block definitely all possibility for their soul to progress.

But of course, those who really had Knowledge did not allow themselves to be vaccinated. They knew the dangers of vaccines, and knew that cometary viruses caused healthy and restorative replications in their genome. As a result of these replications, certain memories and beneficial teachings, from the morphogenetic field from those early peoples who revealed how to use menstruation, could be revealed and understood.

That being said, even though she had already perceived how to cure certain diseases with this technology, official science, with its very limited and far too Cartesian reasons and theories, it would be far from accepting the highly beneficial effects of the holographic and informative properties of stem cells, when combined with those even more advantageous effects of the energy of imaginative or directed thought.

Recall then that the imagination or visualization by thought of the energy passing through the hands and converging towards the organ of an individual, relates to the quantum influence of the mind on the luminous photons, in the same way as a device producing a luminous radiation, spatially and temporally coherent based on the same principle of stimulated photon emission.

The device capable of producing this stimulated emission of photons, is called a laser. Its technology generates a coherent line of photons that has exactly the same properties as photon light from visualization supported by the power of thought.

This quantum and holographic effect of stem cells has already been successfully tested for regenerative tooth treatment, with the light energy of a laser device.

<https://www.futura-sciences.com/sante/actualites/medecine-cellules-souches-tir-laser-pourraient-reparer-dent-53998/>

Thus, the result of sustained conscious visualization, would make it possible to transpose what takes place at the microscopic scale, that is, where the effects of each photonic particle occur, to the macroscopic scale, where the phenomenon in its entirety occurs, that is, in your reality.

However, in your so-called evolved and modern civilization, people are unaware of the extent to which illness is a matter of deep and unconscious emotional programming, while the first peoples knew unequivocally that healing through this kind of energy care, was immediate and complete !

This being said, the way of doing of the first peoples was quite simple to understand. Since all the ethnic groups, whether in Australia, Africa, Asia, and the witches of yesteryear in Europe (the initiated Cagots), held the Knowledge of the magic of the blood of menstruation and the therapeutic and restorative power of its stem cells. Their modus operandi used only their imaginative, living and constructive consciousness, as well as the energy and dexterity of their hands.

Thus, regardless of the suffering organ or the affected area, two operators, usually a male doctor and a female healer, began to operate slow back and forth movements with their hands, two to three centimeters just above the injured area.

This maneuver, which in no way touched the body, aimed to reconstruct the shape memory of an affected organ, a tissue around a wound, or even a fractured bone. By soliciting this memory and amplifying it by the photonic effect of active visualization converging through the hands, the inflammation of an organ or the edema of a bone fracture, decreased rapidly! This maneuver also neutralized the “psychological shock” due to pain.

By these energetic movements, the organ or the diseased area was now ready to receive the second phase of care. The male doctor and the female healer then sought by dowsing in the suffering area, the point of origin of the trauma. Then, having spotted it, they applied around this point, a trace formed by dotted menstrual blood containing these precious stem cells (in the manner of Aboriginal art).

Photomontage realized according to the instructions of True Men, in my visions.

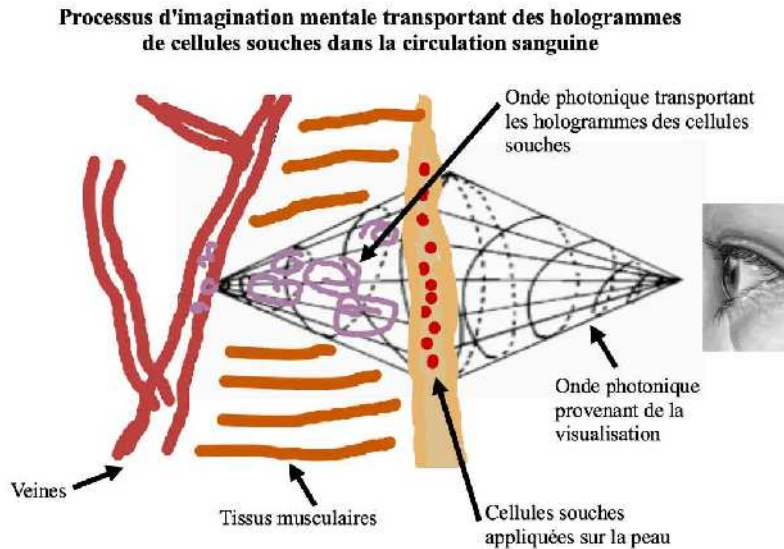

But if the organ or the suffering points were internal, they would consciously draw this dotted line of menstruation, on the path of a vein or artery.

Photomontage realized according to the instructions of True Men, in my visions.

Afterwards, the rest of the group participated in the procedure of restorative mental visualization, by which each participant imagined the converging photons by the hands, pass through the bundles of stem cells drawn on the skin and then back into the bloodstream and repair the organ.

And since the “intensive mental imagination procedure” took place for a few minutes in the presence of the members of the tribe, it increased the power and speed of healing tenfold.

Most often, recovery from a disease or remission of a fracture was almost immediate. The injured or sick person was on his or her feet a few hours after treatment, even in the most serious cases. Thus the miracles of the soul were the norm among these so-called primitive peoples.

So, if in your present civilization at the service of these STS powers, doctors had as much faith in the healing of the human body as they put it into the power of medicines, there would be very few people suffering from real diseases and the pharmaceutical industry or surgical technologies would not be as successful as they are today.

Also, modern medicine often believes that there is no cure for serious cases. But you must be absolutely convinced, from today, that every human who finds faith is naturally endowed with the gift of healing !

Humanity, struggling to bring its consciousness to higher frequency levels, now discovers on its way to 4th density, the power of intuition and imagination. It will soon prove to be a fundamental tool for changing reality.

But caught in a field of tension between the involutive forces that continue to spread through the media and AI, the means that are taught by the initiates, such as natural healing methods or the force of creative imaginative consciousness, become a battle that demands courage and energy, because it is not a battle against earthly powers made up of flesh and blood individuals, but against entities that in the spiritual world represent involutive powers.

Question to the Angel :

What are the principles that would allow humans to use energy practices, not to value or serve the Self, as currently practiced in our society, but within the framework of the Service to Others, that is, to raise the consciences of future humanity ?

It must first be understood that energy care practices are established on the transdimensional cooperation of a multitude of Beings inhabiting the higher or parallel densities. Exercising them, then, trains you to initiate “photonic light/energy” healing conduits and really helps you to adapt to feeling and experiencing fusion with your higher Self.

These practices of energetic care are therefore above all, intuitive and imaginative in nature, meaning that intuition and imagination are conduits that already connect you to your future Self.

So you can also understand that most of the present problems of the human, have as their origin forces and circumstances not visible, inscribed in past or parallel lives. Therefore, certain circumstantial difficulties seem to be repeated in a cyclical manner, opening many doors to emotions and then to illnesses.

Also, these “higher Beings” who assist you in your practices, possess very advanced methods and resources of emotional, mental and spiritual healing, beneficial to the human. They work in collaboration with other higher consciences, to help those among you who so request, to calibrate their frequencies on the resonances of the 4th density of your planet.

Their energy care methods do not require any complicated technology. They act holistically on all kinds of events, and this in all the lives that have already been part of your soul's journey. They participate in this way to open new doors to the progression of the human being towards his multidimensionality.

Their healing system derives from the properties of informative light and is expressed only by a symbolic language that is introduced to your planet in the manner of bands of information supporting these new frequencies.

However, this new informational language cannot generally be decrypted and integrated solo. It is therefore necessary and very advantageous to do so in networks, in groups or to work in small assemblies of individuals.

This system of care, like many other things that will be returned to you after the transition, does not therefore work from the perspective of the Service to the Self, simply because it requires the participation of a certain number of "higher consciousness", to be able to apply it in the design of the Service to Others.

And despite appearances, the current humanity, remained very individualistic, persists in complacency in a quasi-unconsciousness and ignorance of things. Its participants are therefore not ready to experience life in a community of 4th density and even less that of the Service to Others.

Tribal and occult know-how has always existed, even in the worlds of the Service to the Self. But you can bring it up to date now, so as to practice it no longer for your own safety, your own well-being, and therefore for the Service of the Self, but simply for the progress of the soul-group of the tribe towards its next density in the Service to Others.

You can also practice this care for the well-being of applicants and for other individuals who ask to experience the Service to Others. For to exercise this care in a different way, in small groups, with a new ethic, will surely and truly lead you to your own progress towards your new density of STO existence.

So, the first condition for stem cell care practices to develop, would be that people wishing to take the path of the Service to Others meet, gather, and experience this ancestral practice, then share their feelings.

Thus, this type of natural, non-traumatic and non-invasive treatment can therefore only be proposed to small groups of individuals and used specifically for the needs of progression of individuals heading towards the Service to Others.

In any case, the STS population of your current world will always prefer to trust its technology to solve its health problems.

The process of stem cell healing can never be provided for profit. But for candidates to the Service to Others, it will be spontaneously free.

Finally, all types of 4th density care and many other faculties that will be returned to you after the harvest, will use the instinct or power of intuition, for this is the only way that allows the healing of the soul.

As master Yoda would have formulated : To your intuitions you will have to trust. Because the way to the future, they are !

To your intuitions you must rely
